Forester Hugh Smith And Patient

If you were to ask Hugh E. Smith how many trees are growing on Carmel City property, he would tell you, without hesitation, there are 10,515. He might add they represent 63 species, and that 598 of the total are new trees.

Smith is Carmel's forester, and as such he is responsible for the health and welfare of each one of the leafy specimens that provide shade where, up to a comparatively few years ago, none existed here.

It is the health of the trees that is of particular concern to the career forester who became part of Carmel's official family a year and a half ago. A survey he conducted last summer was not too reassuring from that standpoint.

"Our big problem," Smith says, "is that Carmel has a forest of overmature trees, mostly pines, and not enough new growth. Another problem is the fact our people are, in a sense, loving our trees to death. We walk over their root systems, or park our cars on them."

Carmel's is a situation in which a city was injected into a forest, Smith says, and now he is interested in finding out just how compatible the two are. He explains:

"We think that trees, put into

Mrs. Josselyn Ends 'Career' As Planner

Nineteen years with the Carmel Planning Commission ended last night for Mrs. Florence Josselyn when she formally announced to the city council she was not seeking reappointment. Her most recent term had expired.

J. B. Martin, Jr., a contractor who had completed one term and started another, resigned because he has moved to Carmel Valley, "out of the area of the Carmel General Plan."

The council confirmed two new appointments advanced by Mayor Herbert B. Blanks, reappointed a third commissioner, then voted a letter of commendation to Mrs. Josselyn and "regrets" at her decision to leave the planning commission.

Horses Yes, Taxis No (Downtown)

The horses got the last laugh after all when the Carmel City Council turned down this week requests to provide special parking stalls in the downtown area for a sightseeing limousine service and taxicabs.

Several weeks ago the council approved a concession permit to operate horse-drawn carriages in the city, then granted two reserved parking stalls for the animals and vehicles. Last week, when other requests were made for similar favors, the matter was referred to this week's council meeting.

A motion was made to give the extra parking on a year's trial basis, but this was rejected by a four to one vote, then the original motion, to reject pleas of both taxi operators and the limousine service, was adopted.

A reason: "Providing of taxi stands in on-street parking spaces would reduce the parking available to residents and visitors." Another: "It is the intent of the planning commission to generate and retain as much off-street parking as possible."

City Can't Finance Humble Oil Fight

Carmel's "David," girded and ready to do battle with the Humble Oil and Refining Company's "Goliath," backed off last night when a referee declared the ground rules for the fight were illegal.

Last Monday, the Carmel City Council decided to ask the voters for authorization to spend city money to help the Six Cities Fund appeal the recent superior court decision denying a referendum on the refinery construction at Moss Landing.

Last night, the council was told by Donald H. Smith, special counsel, that "it would be an illegal expenditure of public funds to oppose the construction of oil refineries." Smith had researched the idea at length since Monday's meeting.

Now, the council has ordered a resolution prepared for consideration March 9 which would ask Carmel residents to give financial support to the appeal fund on their own. It would authorize the establishment of depots in the downtown area where literature could be distributed and envelopes provided for contributions.

"All we can legally do is to resolve our support of the thousands who signed the original petition for a referendum, and urge the continued support of the citizens of Carmel," commented Mayor Herbert B. Blanks. "In fact, we should convey these sentiments to other peninsula cities and ask them to do the same."

Councilman Gunnar Norberg made the original motion Monday. He said putting the proposal on the April 12 ballot would give the electorate the opportunity to "put their dimes where their desires are."

City Attorney William B. Burleigh, who also is counsel for Six Cities, noted Monday that such action amounted to "a small commu-

Council Gives 'Go Ahead' On Civic Center

The Carmel City Council has set March 9 as the date for opening bids on phase No. 1 of the controversial Carmel Civic Center at Junipero and Fourth, complete to a disaster center, roof-top parking and landscaping, and an almost certainty it will cost more than the estimated $334,000.

The council, in an adjourned meeting Monday, overrode the objections of Councilman Gunnar Norberg that "there are too many variables and unknown cost factors in the plans as submitted, and this entire project may well cost the taxpayers one-and-one-half times as much again as we were told it might at the outset."

Phase one will include a new police station to replace the present old and outmoded facility which has been described as a "pigpen," and which Councilman James C. Buffington, Jr., says is a "disgrace to Carmel."

Also included will be the underground disaster control center, to function "in the event of an earthquake, tidal wave or other natural disaster," and a corporation yard where city-owned vehicles would be parked. A concrete roof would be added to provide more off-street parking.

In setting the bid opening date, the council also approved payment of a $12,064 bill presented by the firm of Burde, Shaw & Associates, the architectural firm which prepared the plans and is now about finished with the working drawings.

Continuing his fight against the entire proposal, Norberg cited a report presented last June indicating the costs estimated at that time would be about $227,000. They now range around $334,000.

"It seems reasonable to me that we ask now, which we didn't do before, 'why the original estimate was low and the present one is so high,' and perhaps ponder if this whole matter should not go to the voters."

"I'm satisfied," commented Mayor Herbert B. Blanks.

"You add a disaster control center, parking and landscaping on top of the corporation facility, better ventilation for an underground structure and you're bound to increase cost estimates," declared Councilman Steve Grant.

Buffington added the comment "the voters elect us to work these things out."

At the outset, Blanks reminded the council it was meeting on St. Valentine's Day, and jokingly pleaded for a "spirit of brotherly love to mark our deliberations."

"There also was a St. Valentine's Day massacre," Norberg countered, "but I'm not serious, your honor."

At one point, Grant accused

Red Eagle Alley Access Suit Filed

Betty Watt Casey, who owns a lot which abuts Red Eagle Alley, has brought suit in superior court charging that other property owners in the block have barred her access to the property. The alley, running parallel to Ocean between San Carlos and Mission streets, marks the rear lines of lots fronting on Ocean and was named for Chief Red Eagle, a colorful Choc-taw Indian who once lived in the block.

Named as plaintiffs are Mary A. Goold, James C. Doud, Frances A. Doud and Barnett Segal, owners of other lots in the block; also the City of Carmel and Wells Fargo Bank.

Miss Casey asserts that a filled-in concrete curb ramp at the western end and metal barricades at both ends of the alley, deny her legal right-of-way, acquired, it is contended, by virtue of her continued use of the thoroughfare over several years.

She is seeking court action to restore access to her property and, in addition, damages at $100 a day from October 1, 1964, against Mrs. Goold, Wells Fargo Bank and the city.

Mystery Malady Hits Carmel, Rest Of State

If you can find any solace in it, you are not alone if you have the symptoms of a "mysterious" malady that apparently has its grip on most of California. The symptoms generally are fever, headache, muscle soreness and a general feeling of malaise.

Evidence the disease, which state health officials say has not been identified as to cause, has hit the Carmel area is noted in reports about 14 per cent of the school children have been absent this week, along with at least one of every 10 teachers.

Dr. Richard S. Fraser, the Monterey County health officer, said the school absentee rate is "up" throughout the county, but not as much as is reported elsewhere. Monterey's rate as of yesterday was about 11 per cent, compared with 14 per cent in Santa Cruz, 20 per cent in Ventura and a whopping 31 per cent in Cupertino.

"We believe it must be a virus of some kind that is causing the illness," Dr. Fraser said, "but the state health laboratory has not yet isolated and identified it. For want of a better name, they are calling it an 'influenza-like' ailment."

"Generally it is resulting in upper-respiratory symptoms, and it seems to hit youngsters the hardest. There have been a few cases of pneumonia reported among the older population, those who have chronic lung problems."

The health officer suggested a voluntary restriction of mingling in crowds, adding his department will not, for the time being, issue a no-mingling edict. Sufferers are advised to seek help from their private physicians, stay in bed, drink lots of fluids and take aspirin.

The whatever-it-is ailment, which has visited California before, usually starts to taper off within two or three weeks for the simple reason, as Dr. Fraser expresses it, "that all of its potential victims have been exposed to it by that time."

Five Will Seek Two Council Seats

Carmel voters will have five names to vote on to fill two seats on the Carmel City Council in the April 12 election.

Mayor Herbert B. Blanks filed for reelection this morning, just before the noon deadline. Councilman James C. Buffington, Jr., is not asking to be returned to office.

Besides Blanks, those asking for election are: Dr. James Gilman, William Sefton, Carvel Baldwin and Erik Jensen.

Pattee is Seeking His Seventh Term As Assemblyman

Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee (R-Corral de Tierra) said today he will seek re-election for a seventh term in the state legislature.

Pattee first entered public office in 1954 in a close race with State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel, but since this first narrow political victory, he has won handily in each successive assembly race.

This year his district will encompass once again only Monterey County, the 34th Assembly District. Under the new reapportionment program, Santa Cruz County was eliminated from the district.

Just last week, the senior Republican assemblyman declared he will soon introduce legislation which would permit night harness racing in California. Pattee has been a long time advocate of a state controlled lottery to raise additional revenues for the state educational program.

When asked how he felt about running for a seventh term, Pattee said, "I am looking forward to representing this district with as much enthusiasm now as I did when I first ran in 1954. I feel my experience has been an important factor in representing the best interests of our county government in Sacramento."

ARTS COMMISSION HANGS NEW EXHIBIT

Art work by gifted children of a Mississippi school will be on display, beginning Monday, at the Young People's Art Center, room 11, Sunset Center. The gallery is open weekdays from 3:30-5:30 p.m., with volunteers acting as hostesses. The Carmel High School students' exhibit may still be seen at the center today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Barbara Norberg, chairman of the Arts Commission, says that volunteers are needed to keep the center open its present hours or to extend them. Interested people are urged to call her at 624-4210 evenings or 624-3394 during the day.

ADULT SCHOOL LECTURES

Henry I. Jorgensen will speak on the subject "Constitutional Safeguards" at the adult school meeting in the Carmel High School at 8 p.m., Monday. This will be another in the series entitled The Law and The Citizen Lectures.

On February 24, also at 8 p.m., Dr. Edward C. Pino will speak on the topic "A Quest For Excellence" in the continuing Adventure In Education Forums.

These meetings are open to the public, in Brey Hall, without charge.

High Percentage Of CHS Seniors Qualify In Scholarship Tests

Monday, Carmel High School learned that 19 members of the senior class have qualified as semi-finalists for California State scholarships. The students, representing 20% of the senior enrollment, were selected on the basis of college board examination scores.

They are Toni Arima, Sheila Bobbs, Sandra DeCosta, John Dickinson, Dave Erickson, Ronnie Fukugawa, Tim Head, Lawrence Hearn, Jane Heider, Jeff Hudelson, Susan Kramer, Robert McGinley, Connie Norwick, Dave Partridge, Bruce Perry, Susan Rzeppa, Ann Tucker, Robert Watson and Orley White.

These students now submit transcripts of grades and financial reports to the State Scholarship Commission which will use these, together with the test results to determine finalists and selection of winners. The scholarships, which are renewable, cover only tuition and fees in a California college for a maximum tuition of $1,500 per year.

Two of the state semi-finalists, Dave Erickson and Jane Heider, are also eligible for the National Merit Scholarship finals, as is another senior, Roger Fonseca.

Results of the scholarship competitions will not be known until April.

Letter To Editor

Editor, Pine Cone—Sir:

It became very apparent at the adjourned city council meeting held February 14, that the mayor was not going to allow anyone in the audience to speak against the proposed plans for the police station and corporation shop building to be constructed at 4th and Junipero, nor be persuaded to listen to recommendations from the floor.

This meeting was one of the flagrant moves to "ramrod" the plans through the city council before the April 12th election, and before any change might take place on the council. We were informed by reliable sources in the city hall that large savings could be effected by eliminating costly parts of the proposed construction which would not affect the quality of the construction, namely:

Eliminate disaster control area and save $17,250; eliminate the concrete roof over the corporation shop area and save $55,430; by allowing the City of Carmel to do the excavation and earth-moving as well as building a retaining wall, another saving of $22,000 is possible.

This would mean a total saving of $94,680 and would reduce the estimated cost to $255,320 instead of the estimated cost of $350,000. The plans for financing the above construction were revealed to the public for the first time at the February 14th meeting. The council proposes to commit funds now in the non-reserve hostelry funds, plus all funds collectable for the years 1966, 1967, and 1968, as a basis for borrowing from some lending institution at a rate of 4% per annum.

We reject this plan as unwarranted and dangerous. Monies from this fund will be needed for a number of years to upgrade and improve Sunset Center. It is obvious that the mayor still believes there is some "angel" who will come along and "bail him out" of the responsibility for operating and maintaining Sunset Center.

We strongly oppose the above plan for financing the proposed police station and corporation shops. We recommend that the city hall and present police station and corporation yard be sold, thus raising approximately $225,000; by adding an additional $30,000 from the non-reserve hostelry tax fund, it would be possible to pay cash for the proposed new construction. Then an adequate balance would remain in the non-reserve hostelry tax fund to develop Sunset Center.

We urge all taxpayers in Carmel to attend the March city council meeting and voice their protests and opinions in this matter. We want them to know that we are concerned.

COMMITTEE

Reception For Woodingtons

Members of the Associations of the Monterey-Marina School Districts will host a public reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Donald D. Woodington in Monterey's Estrada Adobe, Tyler at Bonifacio, between 3 and 5 p.m. on Sunday. Dr. Woodington is the new superintendent of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District.

Mrs. Johnston In Hawaii

Gladys Johnston, who bought some land in Hilo, Hawaii, some years ago, recently made a trip there to see what was developing in the area. She found that it will soon prove to be an exceedingly prosperous investment, especially for industry. This was only one reason for her sojourn.

She remained in the islands for two weeks of leisure, during which she visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stuefloten at Kona Plantation and Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Gould in Honolulu, whose guest she was. She also spent four days on the island of Maui.

Tasha To Travel

Tasha Doner has for some time now been threatening to go to Europe. Although, for the most part, it has been all talk, she has now made definite plans. First, she will take a plane to New York where she will visit her grandfather, Jacob Doner. From New York, she will embark on the Franconia, which will take her to South Hampton, England, by way of the West Indies.

Tasha has hopes of meeting her friends, Honey Williams of Carmel Highlands and Susan Clifford, in Germany sometime in July. They are interested in traveling to different countries to learn about them first hand. Tasha particularly wishes to spend some time in Israel and Greece.

After some six months of roaming, Tasha will return to England. In London, she will begin studies at the University of London in September, with a major of anthropology and a minor of history. She has been studying at the University of California in Berkeley until this time.

Sometime at the beginning of March, Tasha's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Doner, will give her a going-away party at the Doner home. The plan is to have a dinner outside on their patio provided it does not rain.

Swiss Consul's Conference

On Saturday, the Consul from Switzerland to San Francisco, Jean Studer, will give a conference on modern Swiss literature. He will be assisted by Edmond Berruit, better known as Jean Carre, who will recite from well known dramas.

This interesting event will take place at 8 p.m. at the Institute of Foreign Studies, 425 Van Buren street, Monterey. Students are invited free and others will be asked for a small donation towards the scholarship fund of l'Alliance Francaise. Henri Corbat, himself Swiss, will introduce Swiss consul Studer and the actor.

Corbat, owner of The Swiss Jeweler in Carmel and president of l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula and Mrs. Corbat will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Studer and Jean Carre at dinner before the conference at le Coq d'Or where Swiss specialties will be served. Committee members of l'Alliance will share in the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard Weiss of the Institute of Foreign Studies in Monterey will serve refreshments after the Swiss conference at their headquarters. The public is invited but an understanding of French is necessary as that language will be used throughout the evening.

New Works Director

Leo W. McIntyre will start work tomorrow as the City of Monterey's new director of public works with the added jobs as city engineer and superintendent of streets. He succeeds Alex Russell, resigned.

McIntyre comes to Monterey from Concord where he was public works director and city engineer since 1960. He is a graduate in civil engineering from the University of California.

The bride-elect is a Carmel High School graduate and attended Monterey Peninsula College before joining the McMahan Furniture Store staff in Salinas, where she is now employed as credit manager.

Lynne's fiancé is the son of Mrs. Mary Ann Flynn of Salinas and the brother of Mrs. Richard Shirk and Michael Flynn, also of Salinas. He is a graduate of Coalinga High School and attended Coalinga Junior College. James is now a resident of Salinas and is employed with Kuhlman Electric Company there.

Reverend Frank Dunne will perform the 2 p.m. wedding ceremony.

RADIO BROADCAST SET

The next program in the Christian Science series, "The Bible Speaks to You," is called "The Basis of Brotherhood." It is scheduled to be heard next Sunday over station KDON at 8:45 a.m. and will discuss what it is that makes anyone go out of his way to end strife.

Above, following their wedding at All Saints' Episcopal Church on February 5, are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Robertson Smith, the former Pamela Petersen. The couple exchanged vows in an afternoon ceremony performed by the Reverend Lloyd Johnston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard C. Petersen of Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Smith of Moraga are the bridegroom's parents.

The newlyweds will make their home in Walnut Creek, where Floyd, a U.C. Davis mechanical engineering graduate, is associated with his father's plumbing firm.

'Two Documents' Rule Is Defeated

The Carmel Planning Commission yesterday defeated a resolution which would have required anyone claiming to represent a group before the commission to file two documents. One of these would state the purpose of the organization and the size of its membership; the other would authorize the individual in question to speak for the group.

The commission was asked by the County Planning Commission to consider a proposal for rezoning several areas adjacent to incorporated Carmel. The new zoning would raise the minimum lot size for building sites from a minimum 6,000 sq. ft. to whatever size now exists, thus preventing further splitting of present lots. Planning Director Floyd Adams was directed to write a letter of concurrence, provided the ordinance does not affect land not now subdivided, but lying immediately adjacent to subdivisions containing 6,000 sq. ft. lots.

A use permit was granted to Jack Patterson to establish four building sites on the "Sand Dunes" property at San Antonio and Fourth streets.

X-RAY UNIT IN CARMEL

The mobile x-ray unit of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Monterey County, will be stationed in front of the Carmel postoffice Monday between 1 and 5 p.m.

The association invites everyone to take advantage of the free chest examinations. After the films are processed, persons with suspected problems are notified. This service is financed by the association's annual Christmas Seal sale.

Easement Case Will Be Aired February 25

Attorney Francis Heisler of Carmel will appear before the Monterey County Superior Court at 10 a.m. February 25 to ask for a writ of mandate setting aside a scenic easement agreement made by three members of the board of supervisors with the Alcan Co.

The company, the developer of Del Mesa subdivision in lower Carmel Valley, was granted the easement last week by Supervisors Tom Hudson of Point Lobos; Harold Henry of King City and Arthur Atteridge of Salinas. Heisler already has filed a "corrupt practices" lawsuit against the three supervisors.

In this action, Heisler characterized the agreement as "corrupt, illegal, unjust, arbitrary, capricious and unauthorized." He is representing John Sigourney, George A. Brown, Dr. Ben M. Dahle, Dorothy Durham, John M. Harms, Andres Larsen and Roland T. Percival, plaintiffs.

Gladys Silva

Word has been received of the death in Santa Monica on February 5 of Mrs. Gladys H. Silva, a former resident of Carmel for many years and the daughter-in-law of the late William P. Silva, noted landscape painter and early Carmel pioneer.

Born in Sullivan, Ohio, Mrs. Silva attended Oberlin College and graduated from the University of Montana.

With her husband, the late Abbott Silva, she was an active supporter of retaining the ideals of the community's original planners.

A member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, she belonged also to the Carmel Woman's Club.

Mrs. Silva leaves two sons, Abbott B. Silva of Omaha, Nebraska and William H. Silva of Los Angeles.

TOWN HOUSE PROGRAM

"Wanderings of a Navy Couple," a series of colored slides, will be shown at the Carmel Foundation Town House Wednesday at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

The photographs were taken by Mrs. Charles Wheelock during travel to many parts of the world with her husband, Rear Admiral Charles D. Wheelock (USN Ret) of Carmel. Miss Laura Durgin will serve as projectionist.

All interested persons are welcome to the programs and to tea which will be served at 4 p.m.

Medals For The Winners

Mrs. Phyllis Jervey, author of The Pine Cone's "Party Plans," received a bronze medal as one of the four first-prize winners in the amateur division of the Heart Fund's hors d'oeuvres contest at the gala party held February 6. The awards were presented Tuesday by Heart Fund chairman Aime G. Michaud to Mrs. Jervey, Mrs. Mark Raggett, Mrs. Earl J. Kolb and Stefan Marinescu. Also present at the ceremony in Michaud's Del Monte Properties office were Mrs. Robert (Virginia) Stanton, who selected the judges, and Bertrand d'Avenas, last year's amateur winner and a judge of this year's contest.

The bronze medallions, as one winner remarked, are fit to be worn "at my next cocktail party." Suspended by ribbons of the French tri-color, the large discs are sculptured with a design bearing a chef's hat, a proper cooking spoon and pots, around which whirl wisps of steam.

There also to receive official commendation in the professional category were the chefs, resplendent in their tall white hats, representing local dining establishments.

Honorable mention certificates in the amateur division were previously given to Mrs. Donald Criley, Mrs. Douglas Brown, Mrs. Arthur Hatley Jr., Mrs. Clyn Smith, Mrs. Violette Condor and Stuyvesant Fish.

A Boy For The Wilsons

A ten pound boy was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Riley Wilson (the former Jan Carpenter, in Peninsula Community Hospital). The Wilsons have given their strapping newborn baby the name of Alexander Mathieu, although they intend to call him Matt. Matt is their first child.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dewey L. Carpenter of Pebble Beach, Alexander Wilson of Los Gatos, and the late Mrs. Leone Greenough Campbell of Scottsdale, Arizona.

Hospital Auxiliary Met

The Monterey County Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary met for luncheon and a general meeting yesterday at the Tee 'N Turf Restaurant in Salinas. Mrs. Leslie R. Ericson, well known throughout the area for her ability to charm and interest her audience, was the speaker. Guests of members and prospective volunteers were also invited to attend.

Will See Fashions

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Nix are among those who have a table reserved for the fashion show of the Santa Catalina School for Girls which will take place tomorrow, once in the afternoon and again in the evening. With them will be their daughter, Joanne Louise, and Mr. and Mrs. John T. McGeoghegan of Carmel.

Mrs. Nix is the director of dance at the school.

Proceeds for the event will go to the Santa Catalina Foundation Fund which provides for further building of the school.

Architects' Wives Program

The local chapter of the Women's Architectural League, auxiliary to the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, will use "Facts in February" as the theme for its first general meeting of the year on Saturday. The executive board which will outline the year's program is composed of Mrs. Walter Burde, president; Mrs. Robert McIntyre, vice-president; Mrs. James T. Brady, secretary; Mrs. K. J. Walker, treasurer; Mrs. Marcel Sedletzky, project; Mrs. Russell E. Williams, membership; Mrs. George Kuska, scholarship; and Mrs. S. J. Bordonaro, public relations.

Rear Admiral C. Tod Singleton (USN Ret.) will address the meeting at Casa Serrano on the current projects of the Monterey Foundation. Mrs. Singleton, house chairman for the adobe, and Mrs. Margaret Hanna Lang, hostess for the Monterey History and Art Association, will give league members interesting facts concerning the furnishings and gifts to the association which are in the headquarters building.

Tea arrangements have been made by Mrs. William Concolino, assisted by Mrs. Donald Wald, Mrs. Wallace Holm, Mrs. James Flynn and Mrs. Thomas Elson. Mrs. Ted W. Minnis, wife of the local AIA president, will preside at the tea table.

Hiked To Sur Falls

Last weekend, a hardy group got together to take a long hike into the hills of Big Sur with the waterfalls as their destination.

They were the Aime Michauds, Will Shaw, William Fassett and Ray Ramsey who returned at sundown to meet Mrs. Edith Clancy, Mrs. Ramsey and Mrs. Fassett for dinner in the Fassett home which hides itself above Nepenthe. The lovely old log cabin overlooks the Big Sur coastline's endless beauty and hills now hued in the brightest of greens from the rains.

Wedding Date Set

Karen Marie Freitag, daughter of Lieutenant Commander (USN) Gilbert E. Smith and Mrs. Smith of Key West, Florida, and David Daniel Marasco, Jr. of Monterey, have set March 20 as the date for their wedding in Powers Hall Catholic Chapel at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey.

Karen, a graduate of Carmel High School, is employed in the advertising department of a Monterey newspaper. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Leo L. Heisel of El Paso, Texas.

Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. David Daniel Marasco. Mrs. Marasco was a long time resident of Monterey until last week, when she moved to Scottsdale, Arizona.

David's twin sister, Joan, is the wife of Commander Kent Larabee of Tokyo, Japan.

He is also the brother of Gloria Marasco of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Alvin Fink of Canton, Ohio, Dario Marasco of Republic, Pennsylvania, Fred Marasco of Monterey, Mrs. Joe Murphy of Scottsdale, and the late Oscar Marasco of Monterey.

After having graduated from Union Town High School in Pennsylvania, David served four years in the U.S. Navy as an optical man, and four years in the Naval Reserve. He is presently employed as a cabinet maker.

Report From Nancy In Sydney

Nancy Roberts, who is presently in Sydney, Australia, sharing a room with former Carmelite Sandy Strosnider, reports to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts of Carmel, that working conditions in Australia are not even to be compared with those in the United States.

Nancy begins her day at 6 a.m. working as an assistant veterinarian until 5 p.m. When she is finished, she has an hour to herself before going to work for the Encyclopedia Britannica until 11 p.m. For all her hardship and labor, Nancy receives a scant $22 a week. It is Nancy's intention to help Sandy, who also has two jobs diurnally, to return to Carmel with Nancy sometime in August or September. When that time comes, they both plan to stay at the Roberts home and attend Monterey Peninsula College.

Of course, this is only one side of what Nancy reports. She also has spent some time hunting in the Blue Mountains for kangaroo. She writes that she enjoys life in Sydney so much that if it weren't for her two dogs at home in Carmel, she would wish never to leave.

Indian Cooking At Mission

The public is cordially invited to the annual Indian Cooking Day at the old Franciscan Mission of San Miguel on Sunday. There will be on-the-spot demonstrations of the preparation of authentic early California Indian dishes in the ancient cocina—or kitchen.

The appetizing aroma of spices will emanate from the adobe walls and the smoke-stained rafters of the ancient kitchen, as the Indian dishes are cooked on the low charcoal grill. Visitors will be able to sample pozole, a hearty corn broth enlivened with meats and spices. They may also sample a tortilla, a bland corn cake patted flat by hand on an old stone grist mill, or metate, and to fill it with a portion of steaming frijoles—or Mexican beans.

Indian Cooking Day, an experience in culinary history, will begin at 2 p.m. All are welcome to witness the demonstrations and sample the savory Indian foods.

The old mission is located in the town of San Miguel, on Highway 101, seven miles north of Paso Robles.

Jenkinses Returned

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Jenkins of Pebble Beach, who were fugitives from the crowds of the Crosby Tournament, have recently returned from their week-long stay at Los Cocos, La Paz, Baja California, to find Carmel back to its normal state, in perfect serenity with a touch of sunshine, too. Weather in Baja was horrible, says Mrs. Jenkins, but the countryside just beautiful. The Jenkins plan to fly to Tahiti on the 28th of March.

Farr Asks Another Term As Senator--Eschews Candidacy For Congress

State Senator Fred S. Farr this week stilled rumors he might seek one of California's congressional seats when he announced he will be a candidate for reelection to the state senate from the new 17th Senatorial District.

Farr, a Carmel Democrat, filed his declaration of candidacy with the Monterey County clerk's office in Salinas on Monday, then conducted a series of four press conferences to announce his decision.

"Although there has been considerable pressure placed upon me to become the Democratic candidate for the 12th Congressional District, I have decided, after much reflection, to seek reelection to the state senate where, I feel, I can best serve the people of Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo Counties," Farr said.

Farr has represented Monterey County's 25th District since 1955 when he won a special election. Reapportionment, voted by the state legislature, adds the other counties to the new 17th District. He won both the Democratic and Republican nominations for the 25th District post in 1956, and was returned by the voters in 1960 and again in 1964.

Parts of Farr's formal statement follow:

"The new district can best be served by a senator whose past legislative experience and performance show a broad range of interest in the preservation of its many unique and varied qualities. These include agriculture, education, tourist, cultural, military, commercial fishing, retirement, state institutional, scenic and recreational interests.

"These interests can best be served by a senator whose record indicates a desire to protect agricultural land as well as to help guide the orderly growth of industry and commerce, so vital to California's future.

"This year our legislature faces tremendous challenges brought about by reapportionment and the establishment of a department of urban affairs in Washington. It is, therefore, vital that our Central Coast area be represented by a senator who will devote his full time to the problems of the district, and one who can work effectively with the executive branches of the government on the state and national levels.

"This, I believe, I have proven I can do, and will continue to do, if reelected."

As chairman of the senate natural resources committee, Farr has been in the forefront of conservation matters. He served on the president's task force on the Preservation of Natural Beauty and received a citation for this work. Last May he was a delegate and a panelist at the White House conference on Natural Beauty.

He is a senior member of the senate's judiciary, education, transportation and election committees, and served as chairman of the military and veterans affairs committees. As chairman of the legislative committee of the National Conference of Commissioners of Uniform State Laws, he also is the only Californian presently serving on the executive committee nationally.

He is also a member of the California Constitutional Revision Commission, the California Fine Arts Commission, the governor's commission on oceanography and is a member of the governor's committee on developing a permanent program for the protection of the natural beauty of our state. He also served as a member of the joint legislative council on higher education.

Farr has introduced a diversity of bills into the legislature. Some of those he has authored are: the California Scenic Easement Law, which has been copied in eight other states; the Uniform Commercial Code, considered to be the most important commercial law legislation enacted in California history and legislation creating the present state planning office and a recent updating and comprehensive revision of the State Planning Act.

He has co-authored legislation establishing the University of California at Santa Cruz; the Farr-Quimby Act to bring state aid to local school districts using educational television; bringing $3,800,000 of state monies to the San Antonio Dam project in Monterey County; establishing Nalline testing as a weapon to aid law enforcement in combating narcotic addiction, and a variety of other bills aimed at preserving human dignity and the various natural resources within the state.

Farr, a native Californian, is a practicing attorney in the Carmel firm of Farr, Horan, Wildon and Lloyd. He was married to the late Janet Haskins Farr. They are the parents of Sam Farr, a Peace Corps volunteer in Medellin, Colombia; Francesca Farr, a recent graduate of the University of Arizona and the late Nancy Haskins Farr.

PRAYER SCHOOL AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

The Rev. Raymond Gill, member of The Order of the Holy Cross, a monastic community for priests and laymen in the Episcopal Church, will conduct a three-day School of Prayer at All Saints' Episcopal Church beginning Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The evening school will consist of a brief opening service and address in the church, followed by a question and answer period in the parish hall. Refreshments will be served.

Father Gill is currently stationed at Mount Calvary Retreat House in Santa Barbara. A graduate in education of Temple University, he took his seminary training at Nashota House in Wisconsin and served two tours of duty in Bolahun, Liberia. Father Gill subsequently taught at St. Andrew's School in Sewanee, Tennessee.

Visitors and the general public are invited to attend the three evenings of the School of Prayer.

Grunsky Continues His Attack On LSD

Another step forward in his fight to tighten control over the non-medical use of the hallucinatory drug LSD was taken this week by State Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville), chairman of the senate judiciary committee, when he submitted a bill which would establish criminal penalties for the unlawful possession of, or trafficking in LSD and related drugs.

Grunsky said he was introducing his bill at this time to emphasize the need for immediate action to close present loopholes in California's drug laws and, also, in anticipation that the governor will place this item on the legislative call on the recommendation of law enforcement agencies.

"The need for immediate legislation to control this drug boils down to three basic facts," Grunsky claimed. "First, LSD is extremely dangerous to the health and welfare of our citizens. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration considers the drug as one of the most powerful chemical agents known. It states that LSD is capable of causing serious mental changes with extremely small doses and may cause nervous breakdowns and suicidal states.

"Secondly, it is becoming increasingly popular among our young people. This is evidenced by recent news reports emanating from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Monterey Counties which show that LSD has recently been found in these areas for the first time in connection with the arrest of young people.

"The third fact is that present California law does not adequately protect our citizens from those who wish to traffic in these drugs. A police officer could know that a person was walking around with LSD on his person and yet the officer could do nothing to stop him. He could not even stop this person if the officer saw him walking around in the vicinity of our schools. It is incredible to me that the law does not prohibit the possession of LSD when this drug is so dangerous that it is not even available from a druggist under a doctor's prescription."

Middle School Seeks Parents' Help

Carmel Middle School has issued a plea for volunteer help from parents with certain capabilities to "Free the Teachers to Teach Our Kids Better and Stretch the Tax Dollar at the Same Time." Capacities in which parents can be helpful are as typists, librarians, teacher-aids, readers and playground assistants.

Typists could make masters of tests and assignments, type tests and duplicate supplementary materials from books. Most such work could be done at home.

Librarian aid is needed for cataloging and shelving books, making cards and helping the librarian.

While the teacher supervises large groups, teacher aids can work with small ones, also collect papers, correct papers (keys are available for this) and make ditto masters from books and duplicate the material.

Readers, preferably college graduates with a background in English, read and correct themes. A playground assistant would be helpful to the staff supervising courts and playgrounds.

Interested volunteers are asked to call Principal Orville Rogers, Assistant Principal Henry Chappel (624-2785), or write to the office, Box 500, Carmel.

New Center Parking Will Be Underground

Since the Carmel Planning Commission turned down his request for a variance to the village's new parking law, Don W. Berry is, literally, "going underground."

Berry, who is developing the new shopping court at Dolores Street and Fifth Avenue, had asked the planners for permission to provide off-street parking at a site about a block away from the development, rather than at the court.

He argued that access to parking at the latter site would be difficult because of the proximity of the postoffice, which is across the street. The commission, sitting as a board of adjustments in special session, refused.

This week, Berry told The Pine Cone he plans now to turn to basement parking for tenants and their employees of the 10-or-more units in the complex.

"We'll try to make this as attractive as possible," Berry said, "but the prospects now are for perhaps a delay in getting the tenants in by June, as we had planned."

He foresees no greater costs in the underground parking than in the rejected off-street parking at ground level. His basement parking will accommodate from eight to 24 vehicles, depending upon which plan is followed.

Carmel's new parking law spells out that all new construction in the core of the business district contain provisions for on-site parking based on a formula of one stall for every 2,000-square-feet of space on the ground floor, or level, and 1,000 on the second floor.

Berry said he plans to provide initially eight parking stalls plus a storage area of about 20 by 60 feet. He is weighing costs of construction and engineering before deciding if he will make the parking space larger.

Frank LaFontaine

Private services were held last week in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, for Frank S. LaFontaine, who died Wednesday night in a local nursing home after a brief illness.

A resident of Carmel for the past 20 years, he was born December 13, 1886 in Seattle, Washington.

With his wife and sole survivor, Helen, LaFontaine made his home at Camino Real and 10th avenue. He was a 32nd degree Mason and belonged to the First Church of Christ, Scientist in Carmel.

TO DISCUSS TEACHERS' SALARIES SATURDAY

Mrs. Helen Kerwin of Atherton, a member of the Board of Education of the Sequoia Union School District, will be guest speaker at a salary workshop to be held by the Association of Carmel Teachers on Saturday in Brey Hall, Carmel High School. Mrs. Kerwin's special area of interest is in school finance and teachers' salaries.

According to Marvin Patterson, president of the teachers' association, board of education members and parent groups have also been invited to attend the 9:30 a.m.

White Oaks Sets Free Sunday Show

White Oaks Theatre, initiating a workshop for members of its resident company, is presenting at no admission cost a Sunday night performance, at 7:30, at the theatre in Carmel Valley.

According to artistic director Gale Peterson, the new plan "allows the theatre staff and company to work without worrying about the commercial problems of 'selling a show.' It's all for free and it gives us a chance to experiment. We can involve ourselves in various aspects—realms of acting, directing, designing, even playwriting—that might otherwise go unlearned. We'll be trying everything."

The workshop plan will further training at White Oaks in acting, vocal, and dance classes highlighted by appearances in major productions. Theatre pieces chosen for the venture will be composed of a variety of dramatic genre from the classics to the avant-garde.

Workshop series No. 1 includes Noel Coward's comedy, "Fumed Oak" directed by Shirley Eoff and "The Sandbox" by Edward Albee, author of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" under the direction of Martin Herzer.

Workshops are conducted on a repertory basis with plays periodically interchanged to provide a balanced evening of theatre.

meeting, which will be preceded by coffee at 9 a.m.

Assistant Superintendent Wayne Greenfield will present a brief explanation of the sources of the Carmel Unified School District's funds.

Red Cross Area Captains Named

Frederick S. Duhring, chairman for the Golden Anniversary Campaign of the Carmel chapter, American Red Cross, has announced his corps of assistants for the fund drive starting March 1.

Co-chairmen for the business district are Harold Reliford and Richard Bennett; for motels and hotels, Carl Bosholm. Residential chairman is Carvel Baldwin, whose five co-chairmen are Mrs. Floyd Harber, Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, Colin Livingstone, Mrs. Robert Fries, and Malcolm W. Steel.

Mrs. Stephen Schaffer will direct the Carmel Valley volunteers for the residential areas and K. B. Walsh for the business district. The lower Valley will be represented by Mrs. Harold Quentel; Big Sur by Mrs. William Colby; Carmel Highlands by Mrs. Hal Boyd. Highlands business firms will be handled by Mrs. Rogers Parratt.

Other residential chairmen include Mrs. Herbert V. Alward, Pebble Beach; Robert Reynolds, Rancho Rio Vista; Captain Tom Smith, Carmel Valley Manor; Miss Marjorie Pettman, Hacienda Carmel; Mrs. Philip H. Smith, Carmel Knolls; Mrs. Douglas Tellwright, Carmel Meadows.

The Carmel chapter, according to Duhring, has already felt the impact of the military build-up in the increased emergency communications between families in our midst and their men in Viet Nam. "Your chapter," he states, "has responded to sudden requests for gifts, comfort items and recreational material for hospitalized servicemen in Viet Nam, on the hospital ship Repose and for those evacuated to hospitals in the United States."

The challenges must be met without neglect of responsibilities in the immediate community, the fund drive chairman points out. This includes the supplying of blood to our local hospitals, safety training, preparedness for national disasters, providing and equipping our emergency ambulances and other local services. In preparing for the March 1 campaign start, Duhring remarked, "We are all going to have to work a little harder and dig a little deeper."

Churches Join For Ash Wednesday Service

Dr. Thomas J. Gibbs Jr. will be the guest preacher at the annual Ash Wednesday union services on Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Carmel Presbyterian Church. Dr. Gibbs, who has completed fifteen years as pastor of the Westchester Christian Church (Disciples) in Los Angeles, is an active leader in his denomination and in local civic affairs. His subject will be "Mature Discipleship."

Participating churches are All Saints' Episcopal Church, Father David Hill, rector; Carmel Presbyterian Church, Reverend George Hunter Hall, minister; Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, Reverend Burkert Cree, minister; St. Philips Lutheran Church, Reverend J. Bernhard Brethelm, pastor; and The Church of the Wayfarer, Reverend Alexander C. Bryans, minister.

The combined choirs will sing under the direction of Mrs. James Farlinger, choir director of the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

'Viva Mexico' At Sunset Wednesday

"Viva Mexico," third in the Explorers-Carmel series of new travel films, will be screened Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in Sunset Center auditorium. The feature-length color film will be narrated in person by its photographer, Arthur Dewey, and has recorded musical background.

Dewey has photographed Mexico's striking natural beauties, famous resorts, folklore, and varied crafts, bringing alive Mexican culture and history. Some of the highlights are Mexico City, Puerto Vallarta, Taxco, ancient Toltec and Mayan ruins and native dancers.

Federal Funds Aid Area Schools

Some 44 children within the Carmel Unified School District, including Junipero Serra and All Saints' Episcopal Day School, will benefit from federal funds allotted to the district under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

As provided, by law, the $41,185 allotment for the remainder of the school year to aid children from impoverished homes will be administered by the CUSD.

Additional and improved reading instruction and increased counseling have high priority among the approved projects, as do in-service training for teachers, smaller classes and individual instruction.

This section of the ESEA, legislated by congress last April, was predicated on the belief that children of sub-standard income families need special educational assistance. The CUSD is reported to be considering an evaluation of the achievement of these children as compared to those in average-to-high-income bracket families.

MPC OFFERS SEVERAL NEW NIGHT CLASSES

Persons desiring to enroll in spring semester evening classes at Monterey Peninsula College may do so through the second meeting of the class without the consent of the instructor and thereafter—for a limited time—with the consent of the instructor.

Dr. Keith Merrill, MPC evening dean, says that due to popular demand, some new sections of classes have been added, including "twilight" sections of second semester German and Spanish and an extra section of English 55, a class designed to prepare students for English 1A and/or to meet the college's associate degree requirement. All three classes meet Tuesdays and Thursdays, 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Classes which still have openings for students are Journalism 25AB (Magazine Writing); Engineering 55 (Mechanics) and 1B (Advanced Surveying); Horticulture 80B (Intermediate Ornamental Horticulture) and 85 (Intermediate Landscape Design); Aviation 61 (Advanced Aviation) and 65 (Instrument Pilot Ground School); Political Science 100 (U.S. Constitution); Photography 52 (Intermediate Photography); and Electronics 61B (Intermediate Electronics), 71A (General Electronics Calculations), 71B (Intermediate Electronics Calculations) and 85 (Electronics Drafting).

Openings are also available in Mathematics 52 (Introduction to Mathematics), a twilight class meeting Wednesday and Friday afternoons; and a new class, Mathematics 53 (Intermediate Algebra), a twilight class meeting Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

'Mary, Mary' Held Over At Circle

"Mary, Mary," the Jean Kerr comedy which has been breaking all box office records at the Circle Theatre, has been extended for a final two performances tomorrow and Saturday. The popular comedy must close this weekend to make way for the next production of the Community Theatre, "The Rainmaker," which opens on February 25.

Community Theatre Tryouts Tonight

Tryouts for the next production of the Community Theatre will be held at 8 p.m. tonight in room 4 at Sunset Center. The play, which will open on April 8 for a six-weekend run, is Bernard Shaw's comedy, "You Never Can Tell."

Director Frederick Rider is seeking actors for six male and four female roles, as well as volunteers for backstage jobs.

Anyone interested but unable to attend tonight should telephone 624-2669 for an appointment.

Party Plans

By Phyllis Jervey

Two party plans for Saturday night are being anticipated for unrelated reasons. The first is the historical El Baile de Los Cascarones to be held this year at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. A smaller event will be the cultural conference which the Consul from Switzerland to San Francisco will give at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

The first cascarone ball was described in Walter Colton's diary in 1850. In those days they were held every once in a while at the bigger ranches. Later, beginning in 1900, these colorful events were enjoyed on Shrove Tuesday. In 1939, the increasingly popular Monterey ball was given at the old Del Monte Hotel with the proceeds donated to the Red Cross. The Monterey Civic Club then made the restoration of "The House of The Four Winds" one of its major projects with the yearly Baile de Los Cascarones the means of financing their fine work. Spanish costumes for both men and women are still worn at the baile today. Countless delicate empty eggshells are expertly filled with multi-colored confetti and are the highlight of the event. Originally the eggshells were filled with gold dust. A facsimile "golden" egg decorated with "jewels" will be this year's door prize, according to Mrs. Andrew Reinhold who has been publicity chairman these many years.

In colonial times, the don's custom was to crush these gold dust or confetti filled shells above his favorita's mantilla-covered head. As the cascarones were perfumed, the señoritas loved this romantic gesture. This year's guest of honor will be Mrs. Thomas Fussell, native of Monterey, Alas, all tickets to this gay Monterey fiesta with so much life and color have been sold. But we can relive the old days by cooking up some of the following recipes belonging to the descendants of the early families. (Fine fare, too, for the early morning hours after a night of dancing.)

MONTEREY TORTILLAS

To 3½ cups flour, add 2 tbsps. shortening and a scant tsp. salt; add enough luke warm water to make soft dough as for biscuits. When well mixed, make dough into balls about the size of a golf ball and roll each ball thinner than pie crust. Use a round plate about seven or eight inches across and place plate over rolled dough and cut edge out to make tortilla nice and round. Then cook as hot cakes over a very hot griddle but do not let them burn. Have a cloth ready to place them in and cover them until all are made.

Mrs. Thomas A. Fussell gave this family recipe for use in the Centennial Cook Book of the Native Daughters of The Golden West of which she is a member of the Monterey Junipero Parlor. Mrs. Fussell's maiden name was Josephine Simoneau, the daughter of Jules Simoneau, noted restaurateur of old Monterey and a friend of Robert Louis Stevenson.

The following salsa and filling for tortillas were contributed to the booklet mentioned above by Harry Downie, restorer of Carmel Mission.

SALSA (Sauce)

2 lbs. dried chili peppers cleaned and stems removed. Grind in meatate or grinder. Cover with water and boil with 2 medium peeled garlic cloves. Add ½ tsp. oregano, ¼ tsp. comino and ¼ tsp. sugar with salt to taste. Boil until tender and then thicken with flour to slight thickness.

FILLING

6 medium sized onions, chopped fine, simmered in ¼ cup olive oil and mixed with 3 lbs. tangy yellow cheese, grated or cut into small pieces; 1 large cup ripe olives chopped fine; 5 hard boiled eggs chopped fine. Mix well. Dip each tortilla in the sauce, spread with filling, roll and set in baking pan. Pour sauce over tortillas, bake in slow oven about 30 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serve with more hot sauce and grated cheese on top. All early California tortillas were made from white wheat flour.

HARD BOILED EGGS IN CASSEROLE

8 to 14 hard boiled eggs; heat 3 tbsps. oil, add 1 small onion and 1 green pepper minced fine, with 2 tbsps. chopped parsley. Cook 5 minutes. Add small piece of bay leaf and 2 cups strained tomato sauce, dash of cloves, thyme and mace, 1 tsp. salt and a speck of pepper. Simmer 10 minutes. Add 2 tbsps. flour mixed to smooth paste in 6 tbsps. cold water. Cook 5 minutes longer. In a buttered casserole arrange a layer of sauce, a layer of boiled eggs, halved, then grated cheese. Continue this until all is used. Top with sauce and last with bread crumbs. Bake 15 minutes in 400 F. oven. Prepare ahead of time, refrigerate and bake just before serving. This, also from the booklet, is from Roberta Dorsey.

Sharing the Saturday calendar events are Jean Studer, Swiss consul in San Francisco since March, 1963, and artist Edmond Bertschy, both natives of Neuchatel, Switzerland. In their honor Mr. and Mrs. Henri Corbat, owners of the Swiss Shop in Carmel, have given us an authentic Neuchatel fondue. A native of Switzerland himself, Mr. Corbat is president of l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula.

FONDUE NEUCHATELOISE (Serves 6-8)

1½ lbs. Swiss cheese (½ Gruyere and ½ Emmentaler), grated; 3 cups dry Sauterne; 4 tbsps. flour; 2 cloves garlic; 2 eschalotes;

Boyer And Hampton In Sonata Recital

Following the return to Carmel of the distinguished concert pianist and teacher, Gilbert Boyer, the Chamber Music Society is undergoing an enthusiastic revival. The group suspended activities during the pianist's absence on an extended tour of Latin America and Europe.

Spearheaded by Mr. Boyer and a group of local musicians and patrons, a series of programs is being planned for the coming Fall and Winter which will feature local as well as visiting artists in the chamber music repertoire.

To dramatize this renaissance, the society is presenting Boyer, together with Bonnie Hampton, cellist, in a sonata recital at the Monterey Peninsula College music hall on February 27 at eight p.m. Miss Hampton, whose superb artistry has received high recognition both from audiences and critics wherever she has performed, will be remembered for her featured appearances in the televised master classes of Pablo Casals some years ago.

The teaming of these two excellent artists should provide a rare treat for the music lovers of the Peninsula, and the public is invited to attend this outstanding event as guests of the Chamber Music Society.

salt, pinch of white pepper and dash of grated nutmeg; 6 tps. kirschwasser; bite-sized pieces of day old French bread.

In earthenware fondue pot rub the peeled split garlic cloves and remove. Dredge cheese with flour. Pour in wine and set over low flame. When wine is heated (not to boiling point) stir with silver fork and add cheese little by little. Keep stirring until mixture bubbles lightly. Add seasonings then kirschwasser. If you have eschalotes, peel and mince and add also. Real onions are too strong. Turn flame low and give each person a long handled fondue fork with which to spear his bread for dunking into the creamy fondue. Serve a dry white wine with this fondue. Served for breakfast on a holiday or Sunday, for a brunch or luncheon, for Sunday night supper or for a dinner intime after the cinema or theater, the fondue is perfection to epicures and amateurs alike.

A FREE BUS RIDE

A chartered bus, filled with three dozen people from Big Sur, Carmel, Monterey and San Francisco went last week-end from Monterey, via San Francisco, to the South Shore of Lake Tahoe for what was described as a "memorable, happy and at times hilarious jaunt."

The trip was a prize—a prize won by Bill Fassett (of Nepenthe) and Dick Hartford (of Village Store), Big Sur, for their combined success in winning the second annual domino contest last November 13, a money raising event, sponsored by the Monterey County Symphony Guild.

Fassett's and Hartford's prize was a free bus trip to Lake Tahoe and return—a trip to which they invited a bus full of friends—all fellow participants in the contest.

The bus and the driver's time were donated to the Symphony Guild (the guild is a money raising organization for the Monterey County Symphony Association) by Richard Phinney of "Dick" Phinney Tours and Travel of Monterey.

Dick Hartford, in telling of the trip said, "the bus ride was great—a most pleasant way to go—especially when you have a roomy, comfortable bus and an excellent driver." The bus, a Greyhound deluxe, was driven by Chet Spofford of Salinas, a driver who maneuvered it through rain, sleet and snow.

The group departed from the Casa Munras Hotel and the first stop was San Francisco where the Monterey Peninsula area group was met by the City contingent and taken to lunch at India House.

At Harrah's Club and the South Shore of Lake Tahoe, where they stayed until late Sunday, there were hours of skiing at Heavenly Valley, time for loafing and enjoying the mid-winter season at the mountain resort—even an unexpected sleigh ride through the casino.

Taking part in the fun-filled weekend, as guests of Bill Fassett and Dick Hartford were Randy and June Larsen, George and Dottie Lopes, Blaine McDonough, Bob Caty, Mrs. Joe Chapman, Archie Hess and Charlie Levitzky, all of Big Sur, and from Carmel and Monterey there were Mrs. Edie Clancy, Ray and Judy Ramsey and Will Shaw.

WHIST PARTY

A whist party sponsored by the Home Economics Club of the Big Sur Grange attracted thirty-six people, last Friday evening, to the first of a series of such parties to be held on the second Friday of each month at the hall. Mrs. Harry (Pat) Batlin, mother of four little girls and wife of a member of the staff at Pfeiffer, Big Sur, State Park, is chairman of the H.E.C. this year and was greatly pleased with the response and the revival of this "old fashioned" game in the community. The parties are not limited to grange members. The public is invited to come and take part in the games and enjoy the social hour that follows.

TWO NEW TECHNICAL CLASSES ARE OFFERED

Monterey Adult School Principal Robert J. Stinson has announced two technical vocational classes for persons interested in learning a skill or who want to add to their present skills, will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Machine shop instruction is offered at Monterey High School for persons who want to learn to be a machine tool operator. The machine shop, the best-equipped industrial machine shop in the Central Coast area, provides opportunity for learning on full-size industrial equipment rather than smaller and perhaps outdated equipment usually available in schools. The equipment was obtained from government surplus.

A course in general welding is offered at Seaside High School. Students will be instructed to the point of qualification as certified welders.

A fee of $3 is charged at registration. There will be certain laboratory costs depending on the materials used. Students must purchase their own textbooks. Individual instruction is given in both courses, so students may enter the class at any time and register with the instructor.

SUSPENDED FIREMAN GOES BACK TO WORK

Lee McGuckin, one of two Carmel firemen suspended two weeks ago for hanging-in-effigy a colleague, last night was returned to duty by the city council with a reprimand "for conduct reflecting discredit on the fire service of Carmel."

Charles Grimshaw, who also was suspended, since has resigned. The council has accepted his resignation without any disciplinary action.

The council ruled that McGuckin must lose three days' pay for the two weeks' lost while on suspension, and must make up the others by working extra days within the year. Attorney Mark Starr represented McGuckin at last night's executive session of the council.

HIGHLANDS SHOOTING HEARING MARCH 10

Ronald Bucher, 18, a varsity athlete of Carmel High School, class of '64, is reported in satisfactory condition at Community Hospital after suffering a gunshot wound in the left arm Friday night. Accused of the shooting is Thomas Reed Balentine, 56, of Carmel Highlands, whose preliminary hearing on a charge of felonious assault is set for March 10 in Monterey Municipal Court.

Because main nerves and the artery were severed by a .44 magnum bullet, Bucher may not regain full use of the arm.

According to sheriff's deputies, Bucher, a resident of Carmel Meadows, had used Balentine's phone to ask friends to help him remove his car which was stuck nearby. As the youth and his companion, Michele Ann Frates of Carmel, phoned, Balentine leveled a gun on them. Later, as Bucher and four friends attempted to extricate the car, Balentine shouted a warning before firing several shots, one of which hit Bucher.

The wounded youth is the son of Mrs. Doris Bucher, who recently moved from Carmel to Milpitas.

DANCE TO BENEFIT CV YOUTH CENTER

A dance at the Community Center in Carmel Valley on Saturday evening will launch the membership and fund drive for a Carmel Valley Youth Center which would utilize the present community center with proposed additions. Service organizations have been asked to provide a representative each to serve with the youth-elected board of directors, and by-laws are being drafted.

According to Commander Robert Jones (USN Ret.), president of the community center, the Crosby Youth Fund has promised financial assistance if the project is properly organized.

City Can't Finance Humble Oil Fight

nity fighting the world's largest oil company (Humble is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey), but with money we can win." Councilman Eben Whittlesey said that "putting this matter to the voters certainly demonstrates our sincerity, as well as theirs, in combatting this very serious threat, and would have a terrific impression on the rest of the peninsula and, for that matter, maybe even on Humble Oil."

NO ABALONES UNTIL MARCH 16

Abalone season does not open until March 16, the Department of Fish and Game reminded the public this week. Despite a proposal to permit taking of abalone throughout the year, the season remains the same—March 16 to January 14. Fishing hours are from 30 minutes before sunrise to 30 minutes after sunset.

ADMIRAL C. W. FISHER MONDAY SPEAKER

Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret) and James Owens will lead a discussion on "Republicanism for Tomorrow" at a meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Men's Club on Monday at 8 p.m. in the music building at Carmel High School.

The meeting is open to all men and women interested in attending, it is announced by Gunnar Norberg, president of the club.

Art News . . . .

Paintings by Marvin Greer of Boulder Creek will be displayed at the Grove Gallery from Sunday through March 20. The young artist has had one-man exhibits at Hart's Gallery in San Jose and at Ann Valk's in Saratoga. His work has been shown in several other California galleries, also at the University Gallery, Lawrence, Kansas.

Greer attended the University of Kansas, San Jose State College and the San Francisco Art Institute. He has received awards in the Mid-America Annual, from Rockhill Museum of Kansas City, and in the Sausalito and Los Gatos annual art exhibits.

A preview of the painters' work will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. in the gallery, which is located at 214 - 17th Street, Pacific Grove.

Marguerite Wildenhain, whose pottery is on view through tomorrow at the AFA gallery, will deliver a public lecture in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall tomorrow at 8 p.m. The noted Bauhaus-trained ceramist is also serving as artist-in-residence at the college, where she has been lecturing and demonstrating her art.

Tickets are not required for admission, but because of limited seating capacity, interested persons are advised to arrive early.

Joyce Jenkins, Pebble Beach painter, is the featured artist for the month of February at the Santa Cruz Art Gallery in Santa Cruz.

February 26 through May 7, the American Federation of Arts will sponsor an art workshop for children, ages nine to 12, under the direction of Louise James. The classes will be held at Sunset Center cafeteria on Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon. Charge for the 10 sessions is $20 and reservations may be made by phoning AFA headquarters (624-2918).

Louise James, who attended the Kansas City Art Institute and the Santa Fe School of Art, has taught children's art for 12 years.

New acquisitions by the AFA include a portrait of Paul Dougherty by John Sloan, donated by Nellie Montague; paintings given by Edda Heath, Betty Harrington and Glen Powell; a photograph from Russell Cummings.

Grunsky Will Run For New 17th District Post

State Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville) today filed his declaration of intention to run for re-election in the newly reapportioned 17th Senatorial District. The district will consist of not only Santa Cruz and San Benito Counties, which are presently represented by Grunsky, but also Monterey and San Luis Obispo Counties which are currently represented by Grunsky's opponents in the forthcoming elections.

Grunsky predicted that he would win his June primary contest for the Republican nomination against Senator Vernon Sturgeon (R-Paso Robles), and feels the major issues in the forthcoming primary campaign will be for the voters to decide (1) which Republican candidate has the most legislative experience and ability necessary to effectively represent the new district and (2) which candidate is best able to defeat Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel) in the November general election.

"Although the youngest of the three candidates, I have more legislative experience and seniority than the combined total of my two opponents," commented the lawmaker. "This places me in the strongest position to do the most for our new district."

"If I am the Republican nominee, I can promise a hard fought campaign for re-election by bringing clear cut issues before the voters based upon a comparison of my political philosophy and voting record with that of my opponent. I am sure the voters realize the importance of having a legislator who truly represents the thinking and interests of all the people in our district."

Council Gives 'Go Ahead' On Center

Norberg of acting like a "drowning man grasping for straws" in his attempts to delay approval of the center plans.

"My 8-year-old son has at least 14 reasons why he shouldn't go to bed at night," Grant said. "We're now up to eight in Mr. Norberg's reasons why he is against the civic center."

Usually quiet-spoken, Norberg exploded.

"This constant derogation of me as a drowning man is ridiculous," he exclaimed. "We agreed to one figure, and now we are asked to accept a higher one. And the final cost may be even higher."

"It is perfectly proper and legitimate to explore other alternatives, such as remodeling of the present police station. I want to know, too, how much it will cost to excavate for the disaster control center. Has anyone tested the soil to determine if city equipment can do the job?"

Architect Walter Burde, called for questioning, said there are no cost estimates available for some of the supplemental work included in alternate plans for the center facility, but added they reasonably could be higher.

"How much higher?" Norberg asked. "Many thousands of dollars higher?"

Burde said yes. He predicted, later, that the bids probably will range between $290,000 and $360,000 when they are opened March 9. The council will not be obligated to accept any of them.

"We believe the disaster control center should cost in the neighborhood of $17,250," Burde said. "A sturdier roof for parking, a ventilating system and roof landscaping may cost another $55,000."

"Add another $9,000 for walls and drainage facilities for the corporation yard, $4,600 for a steam compressor and $2,875 for a retaining wall on the south side of the Carmel Youth Center. We have no estimates for the cooling unit for the radio room, or a paint spray house and an underground motor vehicle fuel supply facility."

Norberg's comment that the total estimate does not include the costs of excavating (the city proposes to do it and save about $9,000) was declared "a delaying tactic" by Buffington.

Blanks, cautioning that there has been, so far, no budgeting for furnishings within the center, noted the costs of phase one would be born by selling the present police station at a hoped-for $90,000, plus moneys from the city's hostelry tax.

"All of these tax funds will be committed to the civic center for three years," the mayor said, "with the exception of the 25 per cent assigned to green belt improvements. This means we will have to pay the expenses at the Sunset Center either from use fees or by a special tax."

Norberg mentioned a possibility the state may preempt 3 cents of the 4 cents collected for the hostelry fund in Carmel to meet its own rising costs of government operation.

"Let's fish or cut bait," interjected Councilman Eben Whittlesey.

On a roll-call vote called by City Administrator Hugh Bayless, the result was Blanks, Whittlesey, Buffington and Grant voting affirmatively, and Norberg voting no. The 3-year old civic center proposal was, at last, a going concern.

INQUEST IN MISSION RANCH SHOOTING

A coroner's inquest into the fatal shooting of James Edward Morehouse of Carmel at the Mission Ranch last December 27 was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. today in the Monterey Council Chambers.

Morehouse, 26, was shot and killed by Charles S. (Skip) Heber, manager of the Mission Ranch, in an alleged robbery attempt.

Lyceum Program For Future Engineers

Peninsula high school students eyeing engineering careers will be offered an introduction to four engineering fields next month as part of the Lyceum program.

Prominent local engineers will present the scholastic requirements and future scientific applications of their specialties. Lectures, which are scheduled from 9:45 a.m. to noon each Saturday, will include demonstrations of laboratory research equipment and discussion periods, according to Commander L. R. Bemis USN (Ret), seminar coordinator.

Electrical and electronic engineering will be the topic of Professor Hal Titus of the Naval Postgraduate School. Professor Gilles Cantin, also with the NPGS, will present mechanical engineering. The School's aeronautical engineering department will present its subject with a three-man team composed of professors Ulrich Haupt, Gerald Lindsey and Cameron Smith.

The final topic, civil engineering, will be presented by George Bestor of Carmel.

Application forms are available at local high schools for students in grades 9-12. Additional information may be obtained from the Lyceum, Route 3, Box 430, Carmel.

GRAFFMAN IS MPCA ARTIST TOMORROW

Pianist Gary Graffman, this season celebrating the 30th anniversary of his orchestral debut, will be presented by the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in the Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium.

At the age of seven, Graffman played for Josef Hoffman, then director of the Curtis Institute, and was accepted to work with Isabella Vengerova. He won the first regional competition of the Rachmaninoff contest and 10 years later made his debut with Ormandy and the Philadelphia Symphony.

Winner of the Leventritt Award in 1949, the musician appeared with the New York Philharmonic and has toured on six continents, appearing regularly with most of the major orchestras.

Attendance at the concert is limited to members of the association and of similar organizations on a space available basis.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

Forester Hugh Smith

a new environment (adjacent to homes, for instance) will adjust to it. But a tree planted in a sidewalk well won't, I'm sure, ever reach the towering heights of another tree allowed to grow without this restriction.

"This summer, we hope to determine exactly what a tree will do in a given environmental situation when we complete the last half of the survey we started a year ago."

The forthcoming survey also will determine the health of every one of the city's 10,515 trees, which should either be sacrificed or trimmed and what should be planted in their place, assuming they have succumbed to old age or disease.

Smith says it is likely he will recommend to the City Council the planting of Oriental varieties, as well as the standard pines, oaks and cypress. But acacias, he thinks, are on the way out, because they are too aggressive, and they are not native to this area anyway.

The city's first sidewalk planters, soon to be installed on Dolores, will have, perhaps, Catalina cherry or maybe Greek laurel planted in them because, Smith believes, these varieties do well in semi-crowded conditions and they do not grow high enough to be problems to their neighbors.

"In other words," the forester explains, "they won't grow so rapidly they'll be unhappy in the two-by-two foot containers authorized for the experiment last week by the City Council."

This same block-long section of Dolores, south of Ocean Avenue, rapidly is becoming Carmel's semi-official "test strip" in that two street lights, known as the Town and Country type, also are scheduled to be erected there.

As far as the trees' health survey is concerned, Smith and perhaps two men will check each individual tree, looking for tell-tale signs of poor condition such as the start of browning among the needles, windburn, insect encroachment near the base, and evidence of too close planting. The last item will rank high in the findings.

"There are many places in Carmel where the trees were planted so closely together that none of them is doing well," Smith asserts. "We may recommend general thinning in cases of this nature."

Soil compaction, resulting from pedestrian traffic or vehicular parking, also will be checked along with any evidence of heart-rot—that fatal malady for which there is no treatment, and no cure.

Tibor Banathy and Ronald Osman, Monterey Peninsula College students, helped in last summer's tree census, and determined, among other things, that pines predominate (4,333) over oaks (2,962).
